Soviets not included in plan US proposes international Gulf

A KUWAITI newspaper repor-ted vesterday that US Defence Secretary Frank Cartucci has proposed a naval force from the United States, European and Arab countries to widen protection for shipping in the Gulf. Meanwhile, in a rare display of superpower cooperation the Soviets and Americans hunted a mine in the Gulf together,

naval force

The Ruwaiti daily quoted 'ranking American sources" as saying that Carlucci recently diseussed the plan with officials from the Arah states of the GCC as well as Egypt and France.

The newspaper said Carlucci believed the force, partly financed by Japan, would reduce the financial burden that the United States bears because of its massive naval buildup in the region, which started last year in order to protect US-flag vessels.

It also said he believed it would ensure escorts for ships now undefended. The United States, France, Italy, Britain and Soviet Union accompany ships flying their own flags, but not those flying others. But the paper did oot say whether the Soviets are also included in the plan.

The Netherlands and Belgium have supplied minesweepers to help clear hazards to shipping.

Shippers from other countries have complained that the escort operations have shifted Iranian attacks onto their vessels. Iran, which hits neutral ships to retaliate for Iraqi strikes on its own oil shipping, has not attacked vessels travelling io military convoys.

"The GCC leaders were not enthusiastie in their reaction to Carlucci's plan, but promised to study it," the newspaper repor-

"France stipulated that the plan be endorsed first by the eoncerned Arab states and rejected a joint command for the proposed force" the newspaper said, quot-ing American sources. "Paris wants each contingent to retain its independent command." Carlucci on Sunday ended a tour of the Gulf, but gave no public reference to a plan along the lines reported by the newspaper. He visited Kuwait, Bahrain and Saudi Arabia which together with Oman, Qatar and

Israel expels 4 Palestinians

(Reuter): Israel expelled four Palestinian activists to Lebanon today as protesters clashed with troops in the Gaza Strip where a UN special envoy was visiting a Palestinian refugee camp. UN refiel workers said soldiers shot dead a 10-year-old boy in the Jabalya refugee camp in Gaza and the Army said troops killed a Patestinian youth during clashes near Ramallah in the West Bank.

They raised the unofficial death toll to 37 Palestinians in five weeks of unrest in the occupied areas captured from Jordan and Egypt in the Middle

Another boy, 13, was wounded during the demonstration at Jabalya camp, they said.

Israel, criticised by the United Nations for its handling of the violence and its plans to expelnine Palestinians accused of incitement, deported the first four by Army helicopter to the edge of its self-declared southern Luhanon security zone.

The expulsions took place as UN Under Secretary General Marrack Goulding, on a mission to inspect Israeli-occupied areas, was allowed to enter the teeming Rafah refugee camp, where protesters stoned troops during

'Perestroika' facing obstacles

Gorbachev vows to pursue reform drive relentlessly

MOSCOW, Jan 13. (Reuter): Kremlin leader Mikhail Gorbachev has pledged that his reform programme will be relentlessly pursued and would turn the Soviet Union into the world's most democratic state.

But he declared in an exposition analysts said provided a keynote text on the direction of the reforms in 1988: "To stop now would be disastrous. We must not permit it under any circumstances

Ranged

The meeting, attended hy senior media editors and cultural figures, took place on Jan 8 hut a detailed account was only issued by the official Tass news agency

Gorbachev, 56, ranged over almost every aspect of the radical reforms he launched soon after coming to power in March 1985. You should have no doubts: We will concede nothing in our Perestroika policy," he said. We are dedicated to take this policy through to the end. The choice is made and we will not turn off course."

In another part of the discussion, he declared: "If we take fright and stop the process we have begun, it would have the most serious consequences, because we simply could not raise our people to such a massive task a second time."

Describing western-style government is essentially anti-democratic, he said: "no-one will go so far in questions of democracy as we will, because that is the essence of the socialist

Pressure

The meeting followed several weeks of speculation among liberal-minded Soviet intellectuals that the reform drive might be slowing down under pressure from highly-placed concahinet, to the "full-steamahead" prospect for democratisation of all aspects of Soviet life over the coming months and

A radical extension of democracy - within the party, government and the legal and judicial system — would be the prime aim for a communist conerence to be held in Moscow in the summer, he said.

He told the intellectuals, who included some of the most ardent media champions of his "glasnost" or openness polices as well as some figures whose position is more reserved, to maintain close scrutiny of authority.

But he said although there were no limits to glasnost — open discussion of public issues ranging from history through farming policy to the state of the health services — it had to be "in the interests of socialism."

Audience

Gorbachev clearly sought to reassure the Liberals in his Friday audience, and those who would be reading the account in today's Soviet press, that there would be no let-up in any aspect of the reform programme.

He suggested critics of the Perestroika from the left and included former Moscow city party chief and radical reformist Boris Yeltsin, whose dismissal last November alarmed even Gorhachev supporters and brought some public protests.

Without specifically mentioning Yeltsin, Gorbachev said fears among intellectuals and young people that his removal was "a blow at Perestroika profound illusion."

Search for Oman's link with Mesopotamia

MUSCAT. Jan 13, (AP): An international team of archaeologists began a twomonth expedition today to uncover the site of an ancient port they think linked Oman with Mesopotamia and the Indus Valley civilisation. Expedition leader Julian Reade, 49, a curator at the British Muscum in London, said early findings indicated that Ras Al Junayz, a sleepy fishing village along the sultanate's Arabian Sea coastline, was bustling harbour in the fourth millenium BC.

"From a global point of view. it is very important that we establish the relationship between ancient civilisations." Reade said. "We believe this site will provide valuable evidence proving Oman's links with Mesopotamia and the Indus valley.

Israel and Iran in terrorism alliance

LONDON, Jan 13, (Kuna): The secretary-general of the Council of Arab Interior Ministers Dr Akram Nashat, said in a press statement published here today that the Iranian ruling regime and the Israeli entity were terrorists, and warned that any Arab country could be subject to their acts of aggression unless careful precautions were taken.

Speaking to the London-based, Al-Majalla magazine, Dr Nashat said that the worst brand of terrorism was currently seen in the terrorist Zionist-Iranian alliance.

Aggression

He warned that Iran and Israel would circumscribe Arab countries through warfare, terrorism or other forms of aggression, as witnessed inside some Arah states.

He added that the Arabs were now in a state of war with Israel and Iran, who were masterminding subversive acts against Arab countries from the inside.

He commented on the socalled Islamic Revolution as declared by the Iranian regime, saving that it was a terrorist revolution and could not be mit any such inhuman practices.

Conference of social affairs ministers ends

LABOUR and social affairs ministers of the seven Arab Gulf countries have decided to strengthen cooperation between their countries in areas of labour training and social security systems.

The ministers, who Tuesday night wound-up three days of talks in Kuwait, assigned a follow-up office of their council to prepare for compiling directory describing and categorising professions in the Gulf countries. The ministers of Kuwait, Saudi Arabia, the United Arab Emirates, Oman, Qatar, Bahrain and Iraq agreed to meet again in 1390 in Abu Dhabi.

The final statement of their conference indicated that the labour ministers talked politics in addition to social affairs. The statement denounced repeated Iranian attacks on Kuwait and sounded backing to all steps the country has taken to protect its territories and territorial waters.

Congressional black caucus leader to visit Saudi Arabia

WASHINGTON, Jan 13. (Kuna): The current chairman of the congressional black caucus and ranking member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee Representative Mcrvyn Dymally arrives in Saudi Arabia late Thursday on his first visit to the country.

The Democrat congressman from California also said he hoped to discuss with Saudi officials the question of Arabhashing in the United States and how can the Saudis support domestic organisation that are fighting against such bigotry.

Dymally's visit to the Arah Gulf country is at the invitation of Saudi Crown Prince Abdullah Bin Abdul Aziz Al Saud. The congressman has visited only one Arah Gulf country before: the United Arab Emirates in 1981.

Although several congressmen are visiting Riyadh this month, Dymally's trip carries its own weight because of his long interest in the Arab world and wide-ranging support to causes in the area. The congressman, who heads the caucus that comprises 23 black members of Congress, has been increasingly vocal recently on the need to end the Iran-Iraq During the US-Soviet summit

The congressman said he was planning to update the resolution when he returns from his trip and submit it to the Huuse Fureign Affairs Committee. The undated language will include a general call upon the Soviet Union as well as China to support international arms sanc-

Further, he visited Beirut during the Israeli invasion in 1982 and upon his return he authored an amendment increasing aid by $50 million to Lebanon. Dymally is now on a fact-finding mission in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip accompanied by his legislative aide Marwan Burgan, an American of Arab backgruund, as well as several members of the influential American Civil Liberties Union (Aclu). While the Aclu team heads back to the United States following the visit, Dymally and Burgan will proceed to Riyadh.

Civil Service Council meets

THE Civil Service Council met under the chairmanship of the Minister of State for Cabinet Affairs and acting chairman of the council Rashed Al Rashed to discuss a memo submitted by the Civil Service Commission about the equitable offering of administrative training courses for public servants who are GCC state members. The council approved the demand to offer these courses to Gulf state public servants as well as Kuwaitis.

Rashed told Kuwait News Agency that the council had discussed proposals and recommendations submitted by a special committee set up to study the situation of graduates of universities and higher institutes.

Al Rashed said that the council decided to give Kuwaiti tea-ehers at the Language Centre of Kuwait University the same allowances as teachers with the Ministry of Education, which are as follows: Grade A. KD125: Grade B. KD115; First degree. KD105; Second degree, KD95; Third degree, KD85 and Fourth degree. KD75. IF you are visiting this part of the world for the first time or have only recently come to work in the area, you shouldn't miss eating a typical middle-eastern meal in traditional surroundings. Le Tarbouche restaurant in the foyer of the Sheraton Hotel, specialising in Lehanese cuisine, is one of the places you might try. Imaginauvely designed to suggest a courtyard surrounded hy carved rosewood halconies, Le Tarbouche is decorated in warm shades of russet and brown. Details such as the terracotta floor tiles, wooden ables, embroidered table-runners and cushions, earthen ware ted glassware give the res-taurant a rustie leel. Even the waiters are dressed in embroidered waistcoats and fez hats. Sedu wall hangings, Moorish arches, hrass lanterns and heavy, ornate carved doors add to the atmosphere. Lebanese music plays a little too loudly in the background.

The menu offers hot and cold mezzeh and a few main course dishes. Large parties can order a set menu of appetizers for KD8 while smaller groups can select individual mezzeh dishes. We ordered six mezzeh, which was too much for two people when caten as a starter. The Sheraton would do well to provide a range of set mezzeh menus for two, four or six diners, with smaller portions, so that it would be possible to try a range of dishes, no matter how many of you were dining. At present the menu is better suited to larger parties of diners which is perhaps why only two other tables were occupied during the time we are there.

Varlety Lebanese cuisine with its use of a wide variety of vegetables, salads and pulses is one of the healthiest in the world, Slim-food enthusiasts could order a tasty and nutritious meal at Le Tarbouche. On the other hand, for carnivores there is a wide range of offal dishes such as spleen with sesame, brains or heart and delicacies like quail. The mezzeh were served in traditional earthenware mezzeh dishes along with a basket of Iranian and Arabic bread. It was a pity that there was no toasted khuhuz, which I find the tastiest. The Baba Ganoush was hy far the most deligious of the six appetisers. Pureed aubergine with eucumber, onion and tomato, it had a tangy lemon flavour. Hummus, or ehick pea dip, is a must on any mezzeh tahle and that served at Le Tarbouche has a rich, nutty flavour. The Tabboleh (parsley and eracked wheat salad) was aromatic with fresh mint and lemon juice. By contrast the lentil and rice salud was a tusteless disappointment and the shrimp salad (ehopped prawns with eucumbers and tomatoes) was similarly hland and insipid. However, the spinaeh fattayer - piping hot pas-tries filled with tasty spinach and pine nuts were very appetand french fries. For guests who have any room left after this feast, a small dessert huffet is attractively displayed with fresh fruit and an imaginative arrangement of birds of paradise flowers. The range of sweets was limited to a few Arabic pastries, two kinds of Muhallahia and ehocolate cake. The Muhallahia (milk

Shocking show of apathy

SIR: The most amazing statistie to emerge from Arah Times TV Opinion Poll was that only 388 people bothered to fill it in. What a shocking show of apathy.

This was a chance for us to show KTV 2 what we really thought ahout them. Why didn't more people respond? No wonder KTV 2 have got away with it for so long. If most of the audience don't care about the quality of television that cnmes into their home, then why should they?

But to give credit where its due, the New Year schedule of KTV 2 is a slight improvement. Let us hope it now continues to improve.

Interesting suggestion

SIR: The results of the Opinion Poll on KTV 2 bear out what most of us have long felt: the service is pretty awful. As it is likely that little or nothing will be dooe to improve it in our lifetime, may I make a sugges-tion to viewers of this wretched service. When you're watching turn the sound down and play your favourite piece of music or your favourite song. It can be magic! Try it. It may enhance your enjoyment.

For example, during the 8 om News I find the Eurythmics' Be Yourself Tonight album particularly gratifying. Tracks like "Would I lie to you", "Sisters are doing it for themselves" and "it's all right (Baby's coming back) are strangely suitable. For the more serious viewer, a Chopin waltz, will serve adequately. For late night viewing there's nothing to beat Mahler's Sympbony No 7. It's so hleak. Intelligent viewers will soon discover what suits him best. It's worth giving a try and it really enhances your viewing and listening pleasure.

Decision to raise fees improper

SIR: I sincerely bope the Education Ministry does not implement its decision to raise the fees of non-Arah private schools hy five per cent.

Many schools, like the Americao aod English, are already charging exorbitant fees. In view of the present economic situation, a move should be made to reduce fees. Parents and studeots feel that private schools are not delivering the goods. Education bas become a hig husiness with a handful of school owners raking in big money at the expense of thousands of parents. A further increase of five percent will only aggravate the situation.

Instead, a case-by-case study should be carried out at all private schools and fees should be increased or decreased after considering all aspects in each case. A sweeping increase is not

I would like to make a suggestion: to avoid needless delays by a lawyer, the Ministry of Justice can establish guidelines or a panel of honest law enforcers to review cases which have been pending for over a number of years. Such a panel could evaluate a lawyer's efficiency in managing a case. The work of lawyers must be scrutinised. After all, we all seek justice.

Afghanistan: Moscow's Vietnam

By Edward Girardet

PESHAWAR, Pakistan: "Our war against the Russians has never been a matter of winning or losing on the battlefield. It is a matter of wbo can hold out longest against the other," comments Brig. Rahmatullah Safi, a veteran resistance commander.

The hurly former Afghan Army colonel, who now runs a guerrilla training camp at the base of a rocky hill northwest of Peshawar, pauses for emphasis. "But our struggle in Afghanistan is also a classic guerrilla war. And because we are still fighting, we are winning." The Sovier occupation of ighanistau, which entered its ninth year last mooth, has oever been an easy conflict to assess. Consistent, reliable information One American diplomat said from inside the country has always been difficult to obtain. And, with two foreign journalists reportedly killed in October. Afghanistan bas become a much more dangerous war to cover.

On the surface, the conflict remains a bloody stalemate. Few analysts see any possibility of a military solutioo. The Soviets have failed to crush the resistance. Yet there is little the mujahedeeo (resistance fighters) can do should the Soviets decide to pursue a limited war of containmeot, entrenching themselves in the cities and their main countryside bases. Negotiation

Io the end, most observers agree, only a diplomatic or political settlement can resolve a conflict that has already devastated much of that beautiful, rugged land and inflicted untold trauma on its staunchly independent people.

Current estimates hold that a million or more Afghans have died as a direct result of the war. Some five million civilians, almost a third of the country's pre-war population, have fled to Pakistan, Iran, and elsewhere --the single largest refugee population io the world. Between two and three million Afghans still withio the country have migrated

One significant trend has emerged in the past year of light-ing: The mujahedeen for the first time appear to be forcing the Soviets to seriously reconsider their commitment to what many cow's Vietnam.

Publicly, most of the Peshawar parties say such developments are good. Yet they view them with concern because of the challenge that men like Khao may eventually present to their own authority. But better coordinatioo has resulted in some impressive resistance operations. The past 12 months have seen the fall of several strategic Afghan-Soviet garrisons, notahly Nahrin, Farkar, Kalagfan, and Kerun in the north.

Another important trend of the past two or three years has been the increased politicisation of the mujahedeen. A growing proportion of the 1,000 to 1,500 resistance commanders are realising that combatting the Soviets must be a social and economic affair, too. With the help of foreign aid organisations, they have established huodreds of health centres, schools, and agricultural projects in "liberated areas" inside Afghanistan.

"For years, the Soviets have

But the war itself is oot going too well for the Soviet-backed regime. The Afghan Army, varying in strength between 35,000 and 50,000 because of defections, remains unreliable. Soviet troop morale, too, is low. The Red Army has had to take more of the hrunt of the fighting and is suffering higher casualties. Military analysts and guerrilla commanders say the only really effective anti-insurgent operations are those by professional units such as airborne and special forces.

Most indications suggest that the Kabul regime led by Najibullah, former bead of Khad, bas found only dismai support for its heralded 'national reconciliation' programme and unilateral ceasefire launched last January. The ruling (communist) People's Democratic Party of Afghaoistan (PDPA) has said it is willing to accept a coalition government, but insists oo retaining a dominantrole. This is considered unacceptable hy resistance leaders, who say they will only negotiate with the Soviets.

Who are these people to even dare think that can offer us a cease-fire? Without the Russians, they are nothing," was one commander's dismissive retort.

Long divided by internecioe strife, the Kabul party has been split further by talk of Soviet withdrawal. Frustrated hy Kabul's lack of success, the Soviets are reportedly considering dropping Najih in favour of a new leader. Observers say Moscow feels a "new deal" coalition government may appeal more 10 hroader spectrum of the Afghan population. But it seems doubtful anyone affiliated with the PDPA would win much sup

In Nicaragua, where a state of emergency remains in force, Cootras have said they will not accept new deadlines for full compliance with the plan. The Sandinistas refuse to lift the emergency as long as the United States supplies weapons to the rebels.

new stories and screenplays. The crisis is a making of the industry which either rejects or scares away real writers. Even the words "original" or "serious" are like poison to producers. When some of them do take up the works of famous authors, they make such a mess that literary people prefer to keep miles away from films. But it a writer tells a producer that the story is from a successful foreign film, seen on video, or even from an old Indian lic. he at once jumps at it.

The result is that the same set of half a dozen stories are recyeled again and again. Nowhere in the world does an audience accept the same story in so many films. If you have seen one of them, you have seen a hundred. This is the case even in big star films where the budget easily crosses a crore of rupees.

A quick glance at the stories of three up-coming tilms shows that our film writers have given in to the easiest way of pinching or mixing, the formulas of action, revenge and traditional sentiment.

The first example is naturally that of a big film Shahenshah from which much is expected. Antitabh plays Vijay whose policeman-father arrests the driver of the villain Amrish Puri, when he runs over a poor child. But in the court the dead child's parents give false evidence and Vijay's father gets the rap. Unable to bear the insult, he hangs himself with a rope, which the child Vijay preserves. He also grows up to be a police inspector, but one who is tipsy and fun-loving, yet bent on revenge. Swell

When he is transferred to Bombay his first encounter is with the villain Praveen Kumar who runs a gambling den and challenges him. Under the law, Vijay finds himself helpless. And so Shahenshah is born, who emerges every night wearing a silver wig, with one hand of metal and the other holding a hanging rope. He destroys the den totally and this scares the real owner Amrish and his henehmen Prem Chopra and Avtar Gill. During the day Vijay remains the simpleton cop, who plays pranks, like inspecting a massage parlour and making friends with Meenakshi, who eads a fast life as a pickpocket.

Vijay has a swell time with a street gang (taken from TV's "Nakkad") as well as his girl. by singing songs, roaming in the parks and fooling her with disguises, like one of an orthodox Parsi. But the heroine says she does not like the bumbling, cowardly Vijay and has real love only for the hrave Shahenshah (remember 'Superman', 'Shiva Ka Insaaf', 'Mr India', etc.). Vijay has an adopted sister (Supriya) who gets married to an honest journalist (Vyjayendra). But the villain's gang kills the writer in cold blood. rules being revised, due to severe complaints from members of Parliament, films showiog an excess of lawlessness or violence may get into trouble and delay. Here again the big ones may go scot free while the small ones can get caught. One, of them is Hum Dahej Layee Hain starring the famous TV pair Aloknath and Anita Kanwar, Here, Anita and her eousin sisters, Sonica Gill and Prema Narayan, can't get married, as their brother Shekhar Suman, an ordinary policy inspector, cannot give dowry.

In the jungle they meet a saint, Shashi Kapoor, who was once a dacoit. He gives them guns and bullets. The three start a urade of kidnapping those who give or take dowry, so people get scared. Aloknath. Grover, and Rakesh Bedi are three social workers, helping good causes, though they are the sons of the same villain Sadashiv. The three girls first kidnap the three boys and then dream of marrying them.

The villain's business goes downhill and he spreads the news that the three Amazons are killed. He is about to arrange a big profitable wedding, when the three female dacoits turn up as players in a brass band. When the villain arrests them, the jungle saint comes to their help. The evil men are destroyed but the girls also have to end their lives. Thus, burning social problems, like dowry and bride-killing are given a frivolous twist by the film. Its writer-director Ram Gopal is naive enough to suggest that the solution is for brides to become dacoits and

Trouble

The third film Pati Parmeshwar which has had censor trouble already, on the grounds of denigrating women has Sudha Chandran (the actress with one artificial foot) as a devoted, old-fashioned wife of Shekhar Suman. The film depicts some traditional customs like the bride's father washing the groom's feet, as he would now be like an 'idol' for his daughter. Seeing this, she also vows to worship her husband. This story goes to the other extreme of the bride suffering every type of humiliation. She is harassed, maltreated and nearly burnt. The husband carries on with temptress Dimple, who wants to settle an old score with him. The wife pleads to the goddess Durga who gives her a special power. Now she goes back to her busband and since he is paralysed, she even carts him

Her virtue ultimately wins the day. The husband is cured and becomes devoted to her for life. These kind of scenes have been seen in countless mytbical and devotional films. The oppression and torture of the heroine was shown aplenty in "Jai Santoshi Maa" which became a superhit. Other films have sbown unfaithful husbands being cured of foul diseases and even brought back to life by dedicated wives. The message given by Producer R. K. Nayyar and Director Madan Joshi is that a woman sbould not leave her bad husband but stick patiently to him, considering him as "fati far-meshwar" and bringing him on the right path.

It is again a bankruptcy of ideas and themes among writers and so deserves to be cured at the creative rather than the censor level.

MET Ahmed Al Teeth, the gangster who heads Kuwait's Mafi, in a clip joint down town.

'Clip, clip' went the barber's scissors, but he was having a lot of trouble since Ahmed refused to take his head-dress off because he's embarrassed about the shape of his head, so the barber had to do the best

'I just hate workin under cover, muttered the barber unhappily

'Hiva, Mr Keith, what's happening? Ahmed greeted me. Fancy coming downtown tonight to do 'a bit of sandallegging?'
'Sandal-legging,' I said, a bit puzzled. Oh, you mean like bootlegging? Who wears boois in Kuwait?' rasped Ahmed. Yes, I see what you mean, a bit too warm. But, er, isn't it illegal?°

Sure, but who cares. This is the real stuff, one hunnerd and fifty cases of coke." Ahmed, for God's sake!

You must be crazy? the 'Hah, insha'allah, 'he retorted with great bravado just as the barber peeled back Ahmed's head-dress to run the clippers up the back of his

'But cocaine! It's too dangerous, 'I gasped.
'Cocaine? Who said anything about cocaine? replied Ahmed with a puzzled frown. 'Lissen, I said this was the real stuff, coca cola.

He yelped a bit as the barber raised Ahmed's kuffiya and snipped away under the cloth. Unfortunately he took a few snips out of the head-dress at the same time, so when he had finished Ahmed had a sort of moth eaten cheesecloth on his head with odd tufts of hair poking through here and here, he looked like a yak in

We arranged to meet later that night and when I got to the rendezvous Ahmed was already waiting with his sidekick, Mohammed, the bartender with black and white teeth, like piano keys. 'This is very exciting,' I said,

'Quick, get down!' hissed Ahmed, crouching into the bushes. Big Bedu tried to do the same, but it would be more accurate to say the busbes crouched into him. Soon we could hear an engine which go louder and louder as it approached. Beside me, Anmed bound his black kuffiya over his face so that he looked very sinister. Look what would have happened had West shot up with the king on the first trump lead. That seems to cost a trick, but watch how the play unfolds. West can now set up a club trick for his side by leading the suit, since East has a tenace over dummy. Now when East gains the lead with the ace of trumps, he first cashes a club to complete the defensive book and then continues with a fourth round of clubs. West's ten of trumps becomes re-established, en passant, as the setting trick. ---

If this defense bad been found at the table, there would have been no need to look any further for the best defensive hand of the year.

West German economic growth slows

FRANKFURT, West Germany, Jan 13, (Reuler); West Germany released figures today contirming that its economy slowed in 1987, expanding hy only 1.7 per cent.

After five years of expansion, demand for goods in West Europe's most powerful economy showed signs of flagging despite calls by the United States and other nations for the West Germans to boost consumption so as to help accelerate sluggish

The Federal Statistics Office said the 1.7 per cent rise in inflation-adjusted terms of Gross National Product (GNP), the broadest measure of economic performance, compared with 2.5 per cent in 1986.

Egon Hoelder, the office's president, told journalists that an appreciating Deutschemark made life increasingly difficult for exporters, and exports stagnated in 1987

"Thus overall there was scarcely any economic impulse from foreign demand, as was already the case in 1986," he said.

But domestic demand, the main element of growth, also showed signs of flagging.
The rate of growth in private and public sector consumption slowed, investment in constructiun fell and growth io company investment was little changed, while companies built up stocks hy a relatively high nine billion marks ($5.5 billion).

Sony concedes defeat and goes for VHS recorders

TOKYO, Jan 13, (Reuter): Sooy has conceded defeat in its marketing battle with the world's video consumers and decided to produce VHS recorders, a senior company official said today. The giant Japanese company's Betamax system opened the era of the home-use videocassette recorder (VCR) in 1975 and is still considered by many users to be technically superior to the VHS system, particularly in the United States. Industry analysts said the VHS formal, invented by Japan's JVC company, now comprised more than 90 per cent of the world's VCRs. "It's an admission of defeat. They've been forced to recognise the market superiority of a competitor's system," said Alan Bell, vicepresident of Salomon Brothers Asia. Sony senior managing director Nobuo Kanoi told reporters that video rental stores stocked predominantly VHS tapes, so the company could no longer ignore the VHS format. Sooy would start selling VHS home-use decks in Europe from April, Kanoi said, adding they will be supplied and produced there by Hitachi.

Slight downturn predicted for US economy

DETROIT, Michigan, Jan 13. (UPI): Toyota Motor Corp. said yesterday it is forecasting a slight downturn in US economic growth this year, although it expects overall ear sales to remain about even with last year's level of 10.2 million units.

The top Japanese carmaker, in a New Year's statement from company president Shoichiro Toyoda, said the recent stockmarket collapse will result in lower personal consumption in this country and cloud the outlook for overall sales in 1988.

Sales for Toyota vehicles in the United States last year declined by about 90,000 units because of stiff price competition brought on by the sharp rise in Japanese yen, and poor sales of its light trucks. Toyoda said. Total sales for the year were about 630,000 cars and 300,000 trucks.

Late last year the carmaker's US distributorship predicted its US sales would further decline this year to about 610,000 cars and 275,000 trucks.

")t is our hope, however, that policies and efforts on the part of the US will stabilise the US economy by effectively reducing the fiscal deficit and resolving structural problems such as the trade deficit," Toyoda said. "Under these circumstances, the outlook for the passenger car market in the US in 1988 is uncertain, but we expect the market to remaio at around the same level." Japanese Printe Minister Noboru Takeshita arrived in Washington yesterday for his first state visit. He hopes to demonstrate Tokyo is taking on more responsibility in international affairs and to ease anger over America's trade deficit with Japan, which amounted to a record $32 billion on the automotive front alone, accordiog the United Auto Workers Union.

Exports

Toyota also said that for the first time since 1980, its total exports from Japan last year were below domestic sales, down 6 per cent or 110,000 units from 1986 to 1.77 million units.

Toyoda said that while the Japanese economy continues 10 grow, the continued rise in the yen could 'gravely nffect' all

Car demand in Britain reaches record level

LONDON, Jan 13 (UPI); Car sources of supply?" demand in Britain reached a record level in 1987 as companies and individuals benefited from the strong economic conditions, aid a new report from the Economist Intelligence Unit (EIU)

The report, the UK passenger ear market - 1988 edition, forecasts that car demand in Britain will fall from a peak in 1987 to 1.85 million units in 1988 and to 1.75 million units in 1989. Thereafter it was forecast that sales will rise steadily to reach 2 million units in 1992.

Marketing Margins on cars are also likely to come under threat as disorderly marketing conditions return towards the end of 1988 and throughout 1989 as the midrange battle hots up following the introduction of Vauxhall's new Cavalier, the report said. Having regained mid-range supremacy. Ford will want to hold on to it, and hence the danger of a re-start to 'car wars' must be high, the report said.

This, said the report, would have a serious impact on margins at the retail level and bring to an end the satisfactory level of profitability enjoyed by much of the trade over the past year. The British market is one of the most fiercely contested in the world and, as the report pointed out, is now likely to be on the receiving end of diverse, new South Korean car producers are eyeing Europe in general, while the gradual modernisation of the Eastern Bloc's motor industry points to a stronger representation from the region. The Lada Samara is an indication of what can be expected from Eastern Europe.

"Most major dealers will be in their offices at the time the (trade) figures come out, even in Tokyo," he said.

The Japanese markets will be closed that day for a holiday. But many dealers in Japan will be at the office when the data comes out at about 0830 local time in New York and 2230 in Tokyo, a senior Japanese bank dealer in New York said.

Other dealers will trade at home when the trade figures come out, said Hajime Fuji, a deputy New York branch manager of Mitsubishi Bank.

Owing to the high risks involved in currency transac-tions, "home dealing" has become popular among major dealers as a way of keeping an eye on the dollar 24 hours a day. In the United States, an alarm

LONDON SHARES CONTINUE LOWER IN THIN LATE TRADING LONDON, JAN 13 - SHARES RESUMED THEIR COMMWARD ORIFT IN LATE AFTERNOON TRADING BUT CEALERS SAID VOLUME WAS EXTREMELY LOW AMID CAUTION OVER FRIOAY'S U.S. NOVEMBER TRADE DATA.

AN EARLY FALL OF MORE THAN 35 POINTS ON WALL STREET IN THE FIRST 45 MINUTES OF TRADING LED TO SOME FRESH MARKDOWNS, WITH TRADERS TAKING LITTLE COMFORT FROM A FRESH BOUT OF CENTRAL BANK INTERVENTION TO SUPPORT THE DOLLAR.

ONE CEALER SAID "IT'S REALLY NOT WORTH BEING HERE. FRICAY'S U.S. TRADE FIGURES ARE DOMINATING TO SUCH AN EXTENT THAT NOBODY IS WILLING TO ENTER THE MARKET." AT 1530 GMT THE FTSE 100 INDEX STOOD 17.5 POINTS DOWN AY 1,721.7.

INVESTORS ARE KEEPING TO THE SIDELINES AHEAD OF THE U.S. TRADE DATA, WORRIED THAT IF THE FIGURES SHOW NO SUBSTANTIAL IMPROVEMENT ON OCTOBER'S 17.6 BILLION DLR OFFICIT THEN THE DOLLAR WILL SINK, TAKING WORLD STOCK MARKETS WITH IT.

MOST FORECASTERS ARE STICKING TO THEIR INITIAL 15 BILLION DLR TRADE GAP ESTIMATES BUT RUMOURS IN FINANCIAL MARKETS RANGE TO OVER 20 BILLION. ONE DEALER SAID "ANYTHING NEAR 20 WOULD BE A DISASTER. ONLY A BRAVE MAN OR A FOOL WOULD GO LONG OF SHARES IN

DOLLAR EARNERS LED THE WAY DOWN EARLY YODAY AS THE CURRENCY DRIFTED LOWER AND WERE LATER HIT BY THE LOWER NEW YORK MARKET.

London Gold

LONDON, JAN 13 - GOLD BULLION CLOSED TWO OLRS HIGHER AT 482.50/485.00 OLRS AN OUNCE ON THE OAY, AIGED BY EARLY GAINS IN U.S. FUTURES, BUT WAS CONTAINED IN A FAIRLY TIGHT RANGE AHEAD OF FRIDAY'S U.S. NOVEMBER TRADE FIGURES, DEALERS SAID.

THE MARKET MONITORED SIMILAR TIGHT RANGING FLUCTUATIONS IN THE COLLAR FOLLOWING RENEWED CENTRAL BANK INTERVENTION, AND EDGED AHEAD IN RESPONSE TO RALLYING OIL PRICES, BUT GOLD OPERATORS GENERALLY LACKED THE IMPETUS TO TRADE AHEAD OF FRIDAY'S DATA, THEY ADDED.

GOLD WAS SET AT 481.40 AND 481.90 DLRS AN OUNCE DURING THE RESPECTIVE MORNING AND AFTERNOON FIXING SESSIONS.

London Money Market

LONDON, JAN 13 - MONEY RATES ENDEO MIXED AFTER ANOTHER QUIET SESSION, WITH CONCERN OVER THE SIZE OF THE U.S. TRADE DEFICIT TO BE ANNOUNCED ON FRIDAY STILL DEPRESSING TURNOVER, DEALERS SAID. NEAR-TERM RATES WERE SLIGHTLY EASIER BUT LONGER OATES HARDENED DURING THE AFTERNOON, THE STEEPENING OF THE YIELO CURVE REFLECTING GROWING SEARISHNESS OVER THE LIKELY COURSE OF

CLEARING BANK BASE LENDING RATES OVER THE MEDIUM TERM. THAT BEARISHNESS WAS REFLECTED IN THE SLIGHTLY HIGHER RATE AT UNICH SOME DISCOUNT HOUSES SOLD BILLS TO THE BANK OF ENGLAND THIS MORNING. TWO TO THREE MONTH (BAND FOUR) BILLS WERE SOLO AT B-13/32 PCT AS WELL AS THE ESTABLISHED 8-3/8 PCT LEVEL.

Wall Street Market Report

New York, Jan 13 - Wall Street stocks moved above their lows on technical buying below 1900 and concerted central bank dollar support, analysis said. However, they said central bank support alone wouldn't hold up the dollar for long. Program selling weighed on stocks.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off 20 at 1909 after falling to 1892. Decliners led gainers eight-to-three. Trading was restrained prior to Friday's US trade delicit report.

Primark gained 1-1/4 to 20. The company plans to spin off its utility

TOKYO STOCKS CLOSE LOWER IN LIGHT TRADE TOKYO, JAN'13 - SHARE PRICES CLOSED DOWN IN LACKLUSTRE TRADE AS A WAVERING COLLAR ADDED TO AN ALREADY DISNAL MARKET MOOD AHEAD OF THE JANUARY 15 RELEASE OF U.S. NOVEMBER TRADE FIGURES, BROKERS SAID.

"THERE IS A FEELING THAT THE FIGURES AREN'T GOIRG TO BE ALL THAT GOOD," SAID BROKER YOZO ASAI OF YAMAICHI SECURITIES.

THE HARKET IS UP AGAINST A WALL."

THE HIKKEI AVERAGE SANK 300.06 POINTS, OR 1.33 PCT, TO 22,324.99. THE INDEX ROSE 46.62 POINTS ON TUESDAY. DECLINES LED ADVANCES 3.3 TO ONE IH TURNOVER OF 430 HLH

SHARES AGAINST 500 MLH ON TUESDAY. SECURITIES HOUSE, BANK, INSURANCE, PHARMACEUTICAL, RAILMAT/BUS, COMMUNICATIONS, ELECTRONIC, REAL ESTATE, AIRLINE, RUBBER, PRECISION INSTRUMENTS AND SOME MANUFACTURING SHARES LED THE DOWNHILL MARCH.

BROKERS SAID BEARISH SEHTIMENT CREPT INTO ALMOST ALL SECTORS, WITH EXPENSIVE FINANCIAL SHARES BEING ESPECIALLY HARD HIT BY JITTERY SELLERS. CREDIT/LEASE, WAREHOUSE AND OIL SHARES ROSE SLIGHTLY.

WAREHOUSES WERE PICKED UP ON BARGATH-HUNTING, BROKERS SAID. A MARKET HUNCH THAT JANUARY 15 WILL NOT BRING TERRIBLY GOOD HEWS WAS THE MAIH IMPETUS FOR SELLING, BROKERS SAID. "THERE IS SOME CONCERN THAT THEY'LL BE WORSE THAN THE 14 TO 16 BILLION DOLLAR ESTIMATES," SAID STRATEGIST CRAIG CHUDLER OF SMITH HEW COURT FAR EAST. "EVEH IF IT HITS AROUND THERE,

THERE IS A CONCERN THAT THE OOLLAR WILL BE SOLD OFF, UNLESS THEY'RE EXTREMELY, EXTREMELY GOOD." COMMENTS BY PRESIDENT REAGAN THAT A LARGE TRADE DEFICIT FIGURE IS NOT HECESSARILY A SIGN OF A MEAK ECONOMY CONFUSED THE MARKET, AND THERE WAS SPECULATION THIS WAS AN ATTEMPT TO PREPARE THE PUBLIC FOR BAD TRADE NUMBERS, DESPITE A WHITE HOUSE DENIAL THAT THAT WAS REAGAN'S INTENTION, BROKERS BAID.

"THE MARKET IS IN THE MOOD TO GET NERVOUS," A BROKER SAID.

Nomura Securities

WEEK OF JAN. 11 - 15 THE HIKKEI HAS BEEN STRUGGLING BETWEEN 21000 AND 22000 OVER SOME MAJOR CONCERNS. ONE IS THE SHARP RISE OF THE TEH AND ITS SHORT-TERM EFFECT ON CORPORATE EARHINGS. OFFSETTING THIS LAST MEEK WAS THE NEW GOVT. POLICY ALLOWING TOKKIH AND FUND TRUSTS TO VALUE SHARE HOLDINGS AT LOWER OF MARKET OR BOOK VALUE, COUNTER-ING FEARS OF SELLOFF FOR ACCOUNTING PURPOSES. THIS WEEK, HOM-EVER, DOLLAR INTERVENTION AND AN IMPROVING ECONOMIC OUTLOOK WILL BUOY THE MARKET. IN CONJUNCTION WITH DECLINING SHORT-TERM INT-EREST RATES, CYCLICALS, E.G. HEAVY INDUSTRY, SHOULD DO WELL.

MERCK I 650 ZURICH PS KD deposits decline

KUWAITI dinar interbank deposits fell sharply across the board yesterday as first commercial banks, then the Central Bank put large quantities of ocemooth fuods on offer.

Dealers said one bank had been offering five millioo dinar blocs of one-month mooey, driving rates down to four, 3-1/2 per ceot from opening levels of 4-3/4. 1/4 and Tuesday's 4-3/4, 3/8. The Ceotral Bank then moved ioto the market, offering banks KD2 millioo a piece at 3-1/2 per cent and pushing rates down to 3-3/4, 2-3/4 per ceot. Volume was heavy io a hectic market, with several banks 1 ported taking up the Central Bann offer.

Pushk:q

One trader said: "Ay guess is the Central Bank will oow come with an offer of treasury bills next week." By pushing rates down, the Central Bank would lower the cost of the Kuwaiti government's funding through a bill teoder. Banks had in any case been loog of dinars in some period rates and yesterday's sharp fall spread across the board. Overnight quotes were a cominal 1/2 per cent. Three-mooth deposits eased to 4-3/8, 3-3/4 per cent from 5-1/8, 4-7/8 on Tuesday, while six-months was quoted a shade softer at 5-1/8, 4-5/8 per

The Central Bank set its dinar exchange rate firmer at 0.27279/ 89 to the dollar after Tuesday's 0.27372/82. Meanwhile, Saudi riyal inter-bank deposits surged in a busy and volatile market yesterday, extending this week's firmer tone as speculation over possible devaluation of the kiogdom's currency prompted traders to build up long dollar positions.

Dealers said the market had begun with a softer tooz. But this quickly changed as banks in the Offshore Ceotre Bahrain bid stroogly for funds, particularly the one-mooth maturity.

The Saudi government's Uturn last week oo taxing foreigners in the kingdom - and subsequent loss of planned revenue has prompted fears the rival will be devalued to increase earniogs generated by dollar-denominated oil exports.

China to cut money supply sharply

BEIJING, Jan 13, (AP): China's central bank announced plans today to sharply cut the money supply in 1988 in hopes of curbing excessive demand that pushed inflation past 7 per cent last year.

"We'll pay close attention to make sure that the sector that need to be developed will get the money they need," the official Xinhua news agency quoted a spokesman for the People's Bank of China as saying.

Enterprises with foreign investment are on the priority list and those with good economic returns will have our full sup-port." Xinhua quoted the unidentified spokesman as say-

The official said lending will increase but will be kept short of demand, while the overall money supply "will be cut drastically."

Overextended

Xinhua quoted the bank as saying overextended capital construction, especially in projects outside the state plan, and excessive growth in consumption have caused demand to far outstrip supply, especially in the areas of energy and raw and semi-finished materials.

Government officials and economists have blamed this situation for China's growing inflation problem. Officials say inflation hit a national average of 6 per cent in 1986 and ao estimated 7.5 per cent in 1987, but the rate in some cities was close to 20 per cent.

The report said the bank began to tighten credit last October by raising the reserve rate to 12 per cent, up from 10 per cent, and increasing interest rates for Cen-tral Bank loans. Xinhua did not give the interest rates.

A tighter money supply means banks will bave to be more selective in their loans instead of relying on the state to issue more currency, Xinhua said.

Banks act to rescue sliding dollar

LONDON, Jan 13. (Reuter): Leading central banks including the US Federal Reserve Board intervened in currency markets and bought the dollar to rescue it from a new slide today.

Dealers said the Fed. West

Germany's Bundesbank, the Swies National Bank, the central banks of the Netherlands. Italy and Austria all hit the markets with snap dollar purchases. The Bank of Japan bought dollars during the earlier Asian trading day.

Fears 1'.at US trade figures due on Ft lay will be bad had caused the ew dollar retreat, a rally last week د which follov which was also helped by concerted central bank intervention.

Lifted The fresh round of intervention, timed for the opening of the New York market, lifted the dollar from near day's lows of 125.47 yen and 1.6248 Deuts-chemarks to above 126.25 yen and 1.6325 marks. Dealers said the Fed and Bun-desbank sold ven for dollars. Japan's yen had been the favourite with international investors who were selling dollars this morning — "the yen's been the star of the show. It's strengthened against everything," said a London trader.

But dealers said not too many people had gone short of dollars so there was no frantic scramble to buy America's currency when the central banks moved in.

Worries about the dollar and Friday's US trade figures affected Wall Street where the Dow Jones industrial average quickly lost 20 points, although it rallied The central bank intervention did not immediately inspire a marked rally in European shares, which had generally opened lower because of worries about the dollar's prospects.

Bad US trade figures have repeatedly led operators in currencies to sell the dollar, in the belief that America will have to let it slide to help its exports.

Most economists expect the US trade deficit to narrow to about $14 to 16 billion in November from a record 17.63 billion marks in October.

But market rumours put it anywhere from $12 to 20 billion. "There was even a rumour of a $23 billion deficit in Tokyo today." said one West German analyst.

Deficit Dealers said a deficit of more than $15 billion would be likely to weaken the dollar, which on January 4 hit historic lows of 1.5615 marks and 120.20 yen.

Officials have said the central bank interventions which have helped the dollar rebound have reflected an accord to stabilise currencies of the Group of Seven leading industrial nations — the United States, Japan, West German, France. Britain, Italy and don this morning at $481.40 an ounce, just up yesterday's close of $480.75, and traded little changed later.

Recovery Despite the central bank intervention and the subsequent dollar recovery, dealers remained cautious.

In London, traders were divided over whether the action was a pre-emptive or tactical move possibly foreshadowing worse-than-expected US trade data on Friday.

Comments by President Reagan on Monday that a large trade deficit figure was not neces-sarily a sign of a weak economy added to market uncertainty. Some dealers saw the comment as an attempt to prepare the public for bad trade numbers. despite a White House denial that was Reagan's intention. Share markets also hung on

Friday's figures Nervously

The Frankfurt Bourse, which closed before Wall Street opened, ended nervously and near the lowest levels of the day. West German shares were under-declines on Wall Street and Tokyo and uncertainty about the US deficit.

The Commerzbank 10-share index fell 29.5 points, or 2.3 per cent, to 1,246.8 while the Boersen-Zeitung index of 30 top shares fell 5.62 points, or 2.1 per cent, to 258.08.

"No-one is willing to open fresh positions ahead of the US trade figures," one Frankfurt share dealer said.

In Zurich, the all-share Swiss index ended 17.9 points, or 2.3 per cent, lower at 753.4 points while in Milan, the MIB share price index closed 0.89 per cent days. Policia shares also closed down. Belgian shares also closed mostly lower.

Followed

Declines in Europe followed falls in Asia.

Tokyo's Nikkei average sank 300.06 points, or 1.33 per cent, to 22,324.99.

Hong Kong investors also fretted over the trade deficit figures, seeding the stock market sharply lower in light trade. The Hang Seng index dropped 58.62 points to 2,383.79.

Restrictions Meanwhile. Takeshita's decision to ease restrictions that have kept American companies out of the Japanese construction market does not go far enough, a US embassy official said. The statement of Keith Bovetti, US Counselor for Commercial Affairs in Japan, followed an announcement by Japanese Foreign Minister Sosuke Uno in Washington that Japan will change its laws to ena-ble American firms to participate in giant public works projects expected to be worth $200 billion over the next 10 years.

Uno said American companies will receive credit for their work record in the United States when they apply for a license to do business in Japan, the Asahi Shimbun newspaper reported. Bovetti said the change would remove one formal barrier but leave in place other obstacles that effectively bar American participation in that Japanese construction market. "I think it provides a possibility, an opportunity - but then if we get the license, can we get the subcontractors?" Bovetti American contractors have complained that they cannot get the big jobs because Japanese subcontractors frequently refused to work with them One US official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said large Japanese construction companies often threaten lo boycott subcontractors if they accept American work "You have a formal system.

but what everyone knows is the informal process dictates the system." the official said.

Hajime Sako, chairman of Japan Federation of Construction Contractors Inc. said American firms are to blame for their absense from the Japanese market because they have been unwilling to make long-term commitments.

"US firms are not likely to go (into the market) unless they can raise profits in a short period of time." Sako said.

Dear Junior Readers,

Particips some of you have seen a popular poster with the caption, "A little act of kindness can fill a heart with joy" and a picture of a child giving flowers to a friend.

When you first look at the poster you think about the joy of the child's friend as he receives the flowers. But if you actually put the thought behind the poster into action with your own act of kindness you will discover that it is your heart that is filled with joy as well as the person receiving your kindness.

An "act of kindness" can be no more than a simple thank you or helping your mother clear the table after dinner. Fill your heart and o triend's with joy by acts of kindness everyday.

Fruits and seeds

THEKE are many kinds of fruits. The blackberry is a wild fruit. Every blackberry is made up of many little fruits. Each little fruit has a seed inside. The fruit of the wild rose bush is called a hip. A hip is soft, red and jucy on the outside. Inside there are several hard seeds.

Birds like to eat the soft parts of blackberries and hips. They do not like the seeds, though. The birds wipe the seeds off their beaks. Sometimes the birds swallow the seeds. But the seeds have a hard covering around them, and they pass through a bird's body without harm.

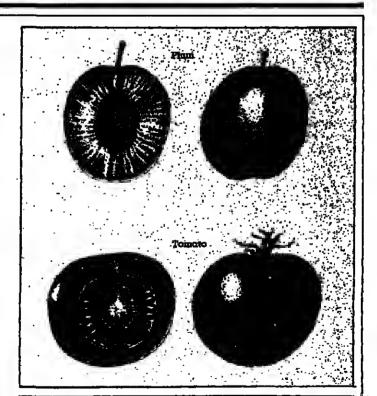

If the seeds reach good soil, they grow into a new plant. If all the seeds made by one plant were to fall on the same bit of ground, the new plants would be too close together. Then they would not grow properly and so the seeds have to be scattered.

Dandelion fruits DANDELIONS grow almost everywhere. You can find them in the country and in towns. They flower from March to October. The big yellow dan-delion flower is made up of lots of tiny flowers. When the dandelion flowers have died, white fluffy balls are left. People often call these white fluffy balls dandelion clocks'. They are really many tiny fruits. Each fruit consists of a seed with its own little parachute of down. The wind blows the dandelion fruits to new places where they grow.

Soviet and N. Korean statements put Cuba in a spot The Soviet Union's decision to take part in the Seoul Olympics and North Korea's vow to stay away have left Cuba in a difficult position, diplomats based here said yesterday.

If President Fidel Castro follows through on his most recent declarations then Cuba will boycott the Games, hut Moscow's announcement complicates the matter, they said.

If the Olympic Games are not shared between the two Koreas, we will not participate," Castro said in his last public statement on the issue, in an interview with an Italian reporter last June.

The North Korean Olympic Committee said yesterday it would not participate in the Scoul Olympics, just a day after the Soviet Union announced it would take part and Chinese sources in Peking said China would also participate.

Cuba's state-run news agency, Prensa Latina, carried a report of the North Korean decision from Pyongyang but there was no official government raction in Cuban Olympic Committee officials were not immediately available for comment.

"Cubans have said all along they would guide themselves by North Korea, but the fact that Moseow will attend could present them with a dilemma," a Western diplomat said.

.... Considered

International Olympic Com-mittee (IOC) president Juan Antonio Samaranch lias considered hanning nations which boycott the Seoul Gaines from the 1992 Olympics.

In other statements last year, Castro said Cuba, which is a close ally of North Korea, had a moral commitment not to attend the Games if they were not cohosted "because we have to be consistent with our principles." Castro has also said in the past that, the honour of the Games." could only be saved by splitting them between North and South

Hehassaidall along that Seoul wagnot the best choice as the leastery of the Korean nation is artificially and arbitrarily

Cuba, which supported the Soviet-led boycott of the 1984 Angeles Olympics and, like North Korea, receives substantal aid from Moscow, won 20 medals at the 1980 Moscow

Lora to defend title in March

BOGOTA, Jan 13, (Reuter): World Boxing Council bantamweight champion Miguel Happy, Lora of Colombia will make the fifth defence of his title against Argentina's Luzio 'Machinegun,' Lopez in Colom-bia next March, promoted Julio Guerrero said yesterday.

He said the fight had been ten-tatively set for March 4 in Bogota if local authorities agreed to exempt it from taxes. Otherwise it will be held in Cartagena, on the Caribbean, where promoters re granted a tax exemption for title fights.

Guerrero did not disclose how much Lora or Lopez would receive for the 12-round bout. Lora won the title from Mexco's Daniel Zaragoza in Miami in August 1985.

Top seeds dominate second-round play

(Reuter): Ivan Lendl. Martina Navratilova and Chris Evert dropped just four games in seven sets of tennis today as the big names dominated second-round play at the Australian Open today.

Lendl had beaten American Mail Anger 6-06-16-1 in the first match on centre court before many spectators bad realised the world number one was even in the National Tennis Centre. Lendl plays Australian Mark

Woodforde in the third round. "I am extremely happy, not only with the way I am hitting the ball but also with the way my mind worked today." the American said. "I went out eager and fought for every point. Saved

Wimbledon champion Pat Cash hit trouble in the second set of his second-round match against fellow-Australian Carl Limberger before turning up the heat to the joy of hundreds of his vocal teenage fans. The number four seed saved three set points in brilliant fashion before running out a 6-1 7-6 6-3 winner.

Women's seventh seed Zina Garrison, however, did not find the new rebound ace surface to her liking, giving little-known Swiss Eva Krapl the greatest win of her career 3-6 6-3 6-4.

Anna Maria Fernandez, another American, managed to stay on court for just 35 minutes against Navraulova before the world number two concluded a 6-1 6-0 victory.

Every hit the ball sweetly against Bowes but the old campaigner was not happy about losing the whitewash.

"I played sloppy tennis in that second last game. However 1 played a lot better than in the first round when I was tentative with the balls and the court. Today I went out intent on hitting it." Evert said.

Cash won the first set 6-1 in 30 minutes but Limberger stopped any thoughts the number four seed might have had about a walkover by breaking Cash twice in the second set to lead 5-3.

Cash broke back immediately and the set headed towards a tiebreak. The 22-year-old from Melhourne saved three set points before taking the set at his first opportunity on the 16th point of the tiebreak.

The reverse seemed to hreak Limberger's spirit and he succumbed with little ceremony in the third set.

Noah, who iriumphed in the match of the tournament so far, a five-hour, first round thriller against American Roger Smith, found himself banished to the nether regions of court 14.

The Frenchman's charisma attracted huge crowds nonetheless and there was breathingroom-only for the match. But Noah enjoyed the whole experience. 'It was nice, you know. I just had to concentrate a little bit more because there was a little more noise, of course, but it was Evert learned that ber great friend and rival Navratilova wanted to play doubles with her again after a gap of 11 years.

The 33-year-old once known as the 'Ice Maiden' melted with pleasure at the prospect.
